

NO COMPUTER SHOULD GO TO WASTE

RECYCLE

DELL INC. TO HOST NASHVILLE- AREA RECYCLING EVENT

Free Drop-Off for Middle Tennessee-Area Consumers, Sat., May 2, 2009, at Dell Campus in Nashville

Dell will host a free computer recycling event for Middle Tennessee residents, Saturday, May 2, at its Nashville Campus near Nashville International Airport, at the intersection of Donelson Pike and Murfreesboro Road. Event partners are re.Source Partners, CEVA Logistics, World Wide Technology, Inc., Genco and Staples.

The collection event will accept any make or model of computers and related equipment, including monitors, printers, ink & toner cartridges, scanners, keyboards, mice, and laptops. Gaming consoles and mobile entertainment devices are also accepted. The event will collect ink & toner cartridges as well.

Electronic items NOT accepted include: televisions, stereo equipment, cell phones, appliances, etc.

All plastics and metals are recycled, and other materials, including heavy metals, are properly disposed.

Participants should remove all data from their computer's hard drive and any removable media such as disks, PC cards, flash drives, CD-ROMs. Drop off is free. The first 1,200 participants will receive a tree sapling ready for planting as well as a discount on a computer purchase with Dell. Dell will also have a variety of products on display for patrons to check out.

Dell has previously hosted four computer recycling events in Nashville, collecting more than 300 tons of computers and related equipment.

When:

May 2, 2009, 10 a.m. – 4 p.m.

Where:

Dell's Nashville Campus, One Dell Parkway
Near Intersection of Donelson Pike & Murfreesboro Rd.

